Austria from $982

Experience beauty, culture and fantastic snow

Austria has a distinctive vacation recipe: A land of pretty villages, clustered around onion-domed churches. A land of friendly mountains with open upper bowls and wooded lower slopes that are reassuring to beginners and intermediates (but with lots of expert challenge, too). A land of "Gemütlichkeit," friendly welcoming people who usually speak English. And a land of serious après-ski beginning on the slopes, and continuing as long as you can stand up. Austria has hundreds of ski areas but its big-name resorts are familiar brands: Innsbruck, Kitzbühel, St. Anton am Arlberg. Each different, of course, but something for everyone.

France from $1,275

Massive snow mileage and awaken your senses

The ski resorts of France offer some of the wildest slopes in the Alps, and also some of the gentlest intermediate areas. Above all, France has the world's largest networks of lifts and trails, ideal for covering as many on-snow miles as possible. Resorts come as convenient purpose-built stations, or as attractive old mountain villages. Awaken your senses with French gastronomy, entertainment, activities, art de vivre and heritage.

Italy from $995

Sensational skiing with refined pleasures

In Italy, savor the laid-back approach to skiing. Here it's almost as important to delight in an extended leisurely lunch on a sunny terrace, to relax in stunning postcard scenery, to explore stylish shops, and to disco 'til dawn. Traditional old-world villages lead to vast ski areas with extensive lift networks and miles of snowy immaculately-groomed trails. And it's really hard to find poor pasta or wine!

Switzerland from $885

Where the mountains are at home

Welcome to Switzerland, in the center of the Alps, where nature is a little closer than elsewhere. After a breathtaking day skiing through blankets of fresh snow, re-live the pleasures over a fondue in a mountain hut. Choose a tranquil car-free mountain village or a high-action sport resort where the party never stops. In Switzerland, "the mountains are at home," and our down-to-earth people have an enviable reputation for hospitality.

Bansko Bulgaria $899

Bansko in Bulgaria is unquestionably today's best value in European skiing. Located in a friendly European Union country, Bansko is a lively historic town with rich architecture and culture. The ski area is extensive and equipped with the latest technology. The hotels are all recently built to international standards.

Zakopane Poland $919

Surrounded by ski slopes, Zakopane is Poland's favorite winter resort and has been a cultural haven for musicians, artists, and writers. Although traditional wooden architecture is its trademark, modern hotels offer every amenity and exceptional value. Incidental costs are remarkably inexpensive. Zakopane combines perfectly with a visit to historic Krakow.
